Pó de estrelas is a History of the Universe. Hundreds of stories are born among its images and its voices. From the microscopic birth of life till the final macroscopics. Space litter orbits around the Earth in the last shot. Its length is the amount of time you need to have a coffee, smoke a cigarette and read the paper at the bar of the café, while the frivolity of the TV ads blasts your ears. But the Universe trembles when we take the sound off the publicity and add it to the terrible photographs from the newspaper. Pó de estrelas is a critique of the Society of the Spectacle...

Time passes. Life flows. Nature completes a cycle of life and death. Eve and Adam correct the myth of the tree of knowledge: the forbidden fruit makes them wise.

Baroque symphony of light and colour. There is no digital manipulation: all the effects are created analogically by the camera.
